Answer (iii): That night a strong wind blew through the pine forest that created sad and eerie sounds. He entered into panic and, in an attempt to save his life, rushed down the path that blindly ran between the trees to the school building. What did you do after that? Answer (iii): Oliver told the watchman he found something horrible in the woods. What's not the boy's thing? He was the only person who could dare to take a shortcut through the pine forest late at night, even in stormy weather. He was angry and interrogated about what he was doing so late and approached the child to recognize the wrongdoer. How does 3 add to the ambience 3 the story? Answer (v): At the beginning of the story, the author describes Oliver as a brave man who does not believe in the existence of supernatural things. This incident shows that when Oliver was in real danger, he was overwhelmed by an unknown fear, he couldn't think rationally and react like a coward. Being a bachelor and a lonely person, the stories of ghosts and spurs may have left deep impressions on your subconscious. "Why was he shaking? Answer (i): Mr. Oliver was an Anglo-Indian teacher who taught at a school on the outskirts of the Simla hill 2 station. Question (iv): How 2 can you explain the boy's "extraÁ±o and soundproofÁ crying"? Question (iii): "How 2 Mr. Oliver express his concern" not for the child? 2 n (v): Comments on the suitability of the title. The torch had fallen from his trembling hand and could not see the way in the dark. The story ends with an exciting climax when the watchman lifted the lamp and showed Oliver that he was also faceless, without features or eyebrows. Question (v): What extracion As the author described above? Torch that sustained fell from his trembling hand and ran blindly through the train asking for help. This is the reason for which the author described the nice as evildo : What was called "east of"? Oliver was terrified to see that his face was without eyes, ears, nose or mouth. Excerpt I á «From before the time of Kipling, the school had been directed by several years of course. His school was located on the outskirts of Simla's hill stake, which reinforced his belief that what he saw was actually a child of his school. Answer (IV): The "strange and soundproofing cry" of the boy could be explained on the basis that Oliver had been listening to stories about supernatural events that occurred in the region. The á 6 á á á á á á á á a face in the dark 6 á á it seems appropriate because the darkness of the night materializes the rooted fear of oliverÁ 6 to the supernatural that he had been hiding in the darkness of the subconscious mind of him. Ruskin Bond is the author of several novels and collections of short stories, essays and poems. Scared, he drops the torch of him and in the dark he begins to run and runs into the night watchman who also has no face. The climax is reached when the wind blows the lamp and darkens again. The narrator ends the story abruptly leaving readers the suspicion that something bad could have happened to Oliver. Mr. Oliver experiences supernatural incidents that indicate that he could be sustaining a deeply rooted fear of spirit and ghosts in the darkness of him. Eton is also a school in England aimed at royalty and á © lite class. How did he prove contrary to this description? He asked for help and was happy to see him arrive as a night watchman swinging a flashlight in the middle of the road. Without torch, for all practical effects, he was blind. Extract III á 6 á the torch fell hand in the trembling hand of him refers to the anterior extract?
